

<http://whistleblower.ml-implode.com/?p=189#comments>

Just for the record, everything I said is the absolute truth. If I didn't believe in downpayment assistance, I would never pretend to, and I would have never used the Nehemiah program to buy my home. I hope DPA does come back to help more homebuyers despite your own deception. No "real estate" blogger would ever go so far in an attempt to defame a non-profit when there are so many other bigger issues going on in the world today. You obviously have ulterior motives yourself.

By Psue on Feb 5, 2009